

How to use the forum

to Register : On the top right hand corner there are 3 options click "Register"

- 1- agree to the terms and conditions
- 2- Filling a Username/Nickname (this is what you want to be known as on the forum)
- 3- you email address
- 4 - Password (this must be between 6 and 30 numbers & letters)
- 5 - retype password
- 6- Select language
- 6 - set your time zone
- 7 - Confirm if you are a AMVC member (this is so i can see how many people within the club have joined)
- 8 - Type in the confirmation code
- 9 - press "submit"

this will then send me a email saying xx person wants to join do you want to activate or deny.

Once the account is activated you will then be able to have FULL access to the forum.

-Please wait for my email so you know your account is ready to go – allow up to 24 to 48 hours

-The system also send you a generic email. Your account is only partly activated at this stage. Its not completely activated until you recieve my email – this is for security mesures

To Log in:

Again on the top right hand corner click "login" then it will come up with a new screen just type in the username/nickname you registered with and the password you chose and then click log in.

To use the forum

Once you are signed in you will have full access to all pages within the forum
as a Example
Seeking Help with something

Click on the Subject "Austin Help"

This will open up with current topics, Newest will ALWAYS be at the top.

If you want to ask something click on "new topic" at the top or the bottom of the screen and fill in the information you require and then click submit

How to reply :

click on a current topic going ie: 1/4 window rubbers this will load up the discussion of the window rubbers. if you wish to reply to the post to offer help click on "post reply" and fill in what you need followed by submit

If you want to go back to the main index click on "Board Index" located just under the logo at the top. you can use that line to navigate back and forth.

I have also put 2 links on the forum back to the AMVC NSW main page and the Sales page.

There is a Ladies section for the females of the car club who wish to use the forum for craft or general talk.

or you can post in "off topic"

Under Welcome i have done "introductions" Please open up this topic and Introduce yourself also.

Feel free to post pictures and such Any questions or suggestions or any help you may require please call me or email me

Forum is now linked off the front page of the amvc site only (this is due to our 3 month trial if this works and takes off the link will be found in the menu of each page also)
